BENEFITS OF SINUS & ALLERGY SUPPORT

How do we differentiate between allergies and the common cold?

A cold is caused by a virus and when a virus attacks the body, we feel run down, congested, have a low-grade fever and sometimes a productive cough and yellow or green mucus. An allergy is confined to our throat, head, ears and eyes; the remainder of our bodies feel normal. A virus attacks our white blood cells and makes us fatigued and cranky, not itchy and sneezy with clear, running itchy eyes.

Spring allergies, is caused by pollen — flower pollen, grass pollen, tree pollen, etc.

Remember that pollen can live on your skin, your clothes and your pets, so make sure to change your clothes when you come inside from an afternoon in the park. If you're sneezing and your eyes are itching, a shower will really help. Get the pollen off your skin.
